For more information, please visit melbourne.vic.gov.au/whatson
I would like to offer a warm Melbourne welcome to delegates of the ICN 25th Quadrennial Congress.

Autumn is the perfect time to explore the city. Melbourne is a leading shopping destination, so why not experience the fashion and design culture that thrives in our iconic laneways and shopping precincts. In the evenings, there is a wealth of entertainment, from live music to major musicals and world class theatrical productions. If you need some quiet reflection, take time out to unwind and relax in our historic parks and gardens and riverfront.

As you explore one of the world’s great capital cities, we hope you discover our hidden secrets and take home fond memories of your time in Melbourne.

Dear fellow nurses and participants of the ICN 25th Quadrennial Congress,

It is with great pleasure that I welcome you to the City of Melbourne for what promises to be a diverse and professionally stimulating Congress packed full of presentations, discussions, workshops, symposia and other events. Many of you have travelled long distances to attend this international event and I am proud that it is being held in my home country of Australia.

For those of you who have not visited Melbourne before, I hope you will find it to be a lively cosmopolitan city with a colourful heritage and a great variety of multicultural cuisine, sports, fashion and art. Take time out to explore what the city has to offer - there is certainly something for everyone! May I wish you all the best for your participation in the Congress and enjoy your stay in Melbourne and Australia!
CELEBRATE OUR CITY’S CULTURE

Melbourne is the world’s most liveable city. Celebrate our city’s culture, restaurants, fashion boutiques, laneway cafés, cool bars, galleries and museums, spacious parks and the village-like atmosphere of our inner suburbs.

Melbourne is a city of precincts - each with its own special flavour. From retail havens to cool bars and cafés and from multicultural fare to an eclectic architectural mix – whatever your tastes, Melbourne can provide. Get to know Melbourne’s precincts and make the most of your time in our city.

MUSEUMS

The National Gallery of Victoria (NGV) is Australia’s favourite gallery. The extensive NGV Collection is recognised amongst the world’s best, and is proudly displayed across two venues – NGV International on St Kilda Road and The Ian Potter Centre: NGV Australia at Federation Square.

We warmly invite ICN delegates to experience the NGV.

SHOPPING

When shopping in the city, remember the golden rule - seek and you shall find!

The city’s most famous tree-lined shopping street is Collins Street, home to high-end fashion and jewellery including many of the world’s most recognised international brands including Chanel, Gucci, Prada, Louis Vuitton and Tiffany & Co. The Bourke Street Mall is home to many of Australia’s iconic retailers including anchor department stores Myer and David Jones, Zara, Sportsgirl and Melbourne’s GPO.

Australia on Collins, Collins Place and Collins234 shopping centres combine chain and small business retail. QV and Melbourne Central are popular shopping destinations, attracting lovers of youthful brands and contemporary fashion.

DINING

One of the greatest things about having so many different cultures living in Melbourne, is the diversity and high quality dining options. With cuisines spanning the globe, you really can experience any flavours you may have an appetite for.

The Chinatown precinct is where the streets of Asia meet Melbourne. Sumptuous scents of Chinese cuisine fill the air, as well as Indian, Malay, Japanese, Korean and Thai. Grecian delights await discovery in Melbourne’s Greek Precinct. Here you will find a tempting array of delicious cuisines from snacks to traditional meals. For a taste of Italy and where Melbourne’s café culture was born, head to Lygon Street for variety of cake shops, gelato bars, pizzerias and pasta.

Waterfront dining extends from Southbank, along South Wharf to the Docklands; here you will find all types of cuisine as well as fresh seafood. In the central city, Bourke Hill (for Italian and Indian) and Flinders Lane (for modern Australian and fusion food) offer bountiful dining options.
During your stay in Melbourne, why not take advantage of exclusive offers on food and beverage, retail, and attractions? Simply present these offers and your conference lanyard to redeem. Opening hours vary, so check each location.
